MEDIATORS WITHDREW OVERTURE

To Carranza to Join Conference as He Refused An Armistice

WITH HUERTA FEDERALS

Pending Negotiations—Rebel Leader's Confidential Agent Arrived at Niagara Falls and is Refused Admittance.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)

Niagara Falls, Ont., May 29.—Juan F. Urquidí, private secretary to Rafael Zubaran, the constitutional agent at Washington arrived here today bringing a communication from General Carranza to the mediators, saying he is willing to send a representative to the mediation conference to discuss international differences between the United States and Mexico.

Mr. Urquidí said he came merely as a messenger to deliver a communication, and not to discuss issues. He expects to return tomorrow to Washington. When he arrived at the Hotel Clifton, he sent his card to Ambassador Dagana, who sent down word that he was "busy," but did not say whether or not he would receive him later in the day.

Although Mr. Urquidí declined to make public the contents of the communication, it is understood that General Carranza reiterates his original declaration that he accepted mediation in principle, on the condition that international questions alone had been discussed.

General Carranza is unwilling that the question of a new provisional president should be discussed at any international conference. He holds that occupation of Vera Cruz, which directly gave rise to the mediation proceedings, concerns all Mexican factions, as well as the Huerta government and that the constitutional chief should have a voice in adjusting differences which caused the American troops to enter Mexico.

In the latest communication he restates his position and places before the mediators the question of whether or not they will consider him in adjustment of the international side of the Mexican situation.

The mediators held in their first communication with Carranza that the international and internal questions were inseparable, and asked that an armistice be agreed upon between General Huerta and General Carranza. To this General Carranza refused to agree and the mediators withdrew their invitation.

When the mediators learned of the arrival of the constitutional agent, it was said, the negotiations had proceeded to a point where the constitutionalists no longer could hope to have a voice in them. It was said the mediators gladly would have received a representative of Carranza if he had accepted their offer, when it was first made, but the invitation extended originally was withdrawn because of the refusal of Carranza to declare an armistice and because of his desire to be informed in advance of the opening of the conference just what points would be taken up.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)

Niagara Falls, Ont., May 29.—Mr. Urquidí later wrote a note to Ambassador Dagana saying he was the bearer of a communication from General Carranza and that his mission was solely to deliver it. The ambassador sent word that he would reply to it shortly. He immediately went into conference with the other mediators and Mr. Urquidí went to his hotel on the American side to await an answer.

After their conference the mediators sent to the American side to bring back Mr. Urquidí who went to his hotel on the American side to await an answer.

After their conference the mediators sent to the American side to bring Mr. Urquidí to the meeting.

Governor Chao of Chihuahua, Deposed by Villa.

There was no greater demonstration of the relative power of General Pancho Villa and General Venustiano Carranza in the constitutional ranks in Mexico than in Villa's overthrow of Governor Chao of Chihuahua. Though the governor had been named by Carranza, he did something which failed to suit Villa, and he was thrown out of his place. Villa named a military governor to succeed him.

This photograph of Governor Chao was taken shortly before his retirement. It shows him surrounded by members of his family and his official staff at the entrance to a palace in Chihuahua.

Great Throng Will Attend Annual Five-Hundred-Mile Race at Indianapolis, Ind.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)

Indianapolis, May 29.—With thirty of the world's fastest cars in line, the annual five-hundred-mile race on the Indianapolis motor speedway. Decoration day, only needs good weather to make it perfect.

Almost as important as fair weather is the temperature, as on this depends very largely whether the present record, held by Dawson, is broken or not. Tires stand up well only if kept cool. The amount of heat generated by the track, therefore, is vital.

Speed on a hot day may go so far as to prove a handicap, rather than a help, tempting a driver to travel faster than he ought, and thus fetching him to the pits for tire changes much oftener than necessary. During one of these moments a more conservative competitor is liable to slip ahead and win.

The crowd at the contest seems assured, advance seat sales being about forty per cent. ahead of last season, though there are still a good many desirable locations to be had. Approximately 100,000 people are expected.

A more cosmopolitan gathering is seldom seen at a sporting event. From all parts of the world they come, London, Calcutta, and Swazee. High and low mingle in a motley throng that is unrivaled anywhere in the world for color and brilliancy. Motor cars by the thousands are parked in the speedway enclosure. It is the largest annual display of automobiles on the face of the globe.

The field is altogether the most formidable brought together for a gasoline contest, five nations being represented among the cars, and four among the drivers. Prior to the elimination trials, Wednesday, there were six, the defection of Italy's hope, the Isotta, being responsible for the reduction.

Chances in the race are thought to be evenly divided among Peugeot, Sunbeam, Delage, Maxwell and Mercer, with a slight shade, perhaps, in favor of the first named, because of their superior showing in practice. Maxwell's lap of 1:33.40, registered by Tetzlaff, Tuesday, easily placed it among the leaders, odds dropping at phenomenal rate against it.

Others with a good chance are Stutz, Marmon, Burman, Bugatti, Excelsior and Mercedes, with the Keeton, Mason, and Duesenbergs as strong contenders. Dark horses are the King, Gray Fox, Ray, Beaver Bullet and Braender.

14 YEAR OLD BOY SUICIDES AT CLEVELAND, O.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)

Cleveland, May 29.—The body of a 14 year old boy was found shortly before daybreak today in a box car on a siding back of the United States customs house north of the Lake Shore railroad tracks on the east side of the Cuyahoga river. Police were inclined to believe the lad had been murdered but investigation proved beyond a doubt that he died by his own hand.

A bottle which had contained poison was found near the body. It bore the name of a druggist in Dayton.

Police and Coroner Byrne believe the boy had been dead at least two days. A bundle of Cincinnati papers dated May 26 was found near the body. They lead police to believe the boy had been earning his living as a newsboy in towns near Cincinnati.

BECKER

WAS SENTENCED TO DIE IN ELECTRIC CHAIR FOR AIDING ROSENTHAL MURDER.

Convicted Man Smiled When Punishment Was Announced—Appeal Will Be Taken.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)

New York, May 29.—Charles Becker was today sentenced to die in the electric chair at Sing Sing prison during the week beginning July six for the murder of Herman Rosenthal.

When he received the sentence Becker appeared calm. He even turned to friends in the courtroom and smiled.

The prisoner was taken to the sheriff's office and allowed five minutes with his wife. Prior to the sentencing, Martin P. Manton, Becker's lawyer, cited ten reasons, why sentence should not be pronounced. He said that an appeal would be filed next Monday. This will act as a stay of execution and a year may elapse before the court of appeals hands down its decision.

Becker was taken to Sing Sing. The convicted ex-lieutenant of police escaped the fate of the four gamblers, who actually committed the murder, by a decision of the court of appeals finding error in Justice Goff's ruling at the first trial, when he was found guilty, and he is confident now, in spite of the conviction by a second jury, that the same court will again save him.

GAS COMPANY FILES ANSWER TO PROSECUTOR

J. R. Fitzgibbon, of counsel for defendants in the suit of the state of Ohio ex rel Prosecutor J. Howard Jones vs. the Newark Natural Gas & Fuel Co., et al., filed an answer with the circuit court of appeals Friday on behalf of the Logan Natural Gas & Fuel Co. The answer denies all allegations of the prosecutor's amended petition except features which set forth that the Logan company purchased leaseholds, wells and transportation lines of the Newark company for $480,968.78; that in 1904 it contracted to furnish gas to the Newark company for 70 per cent. of gross monthly sales, on condition that a rate of not less than 25 cents per thousand cubic feet be charged.

17 YEAR LOCUSTS HAVE INVADED EASTERN OHIO

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)

Columbus, May 29.—Millions of 17 year locusts have invaded eastern Ohio. The coming of these pests was foretold by officials of the state agricultural commission recently. They seem to have sprung into existence in all sections of that part of the state during the past few days. Every mail brings reports to N. E. Shaw, head of the nursery and orchard division of the commission, telling of the coming of the locusts. This is the first visit since 1897. They will stay during June and July and then will disappear for another 17 years, according to experts. Inspector Shaw is advising farmers to spray trees with lime sulphur wash as a means of protection against the invasions of locusts.

NO TRACE

Federal Divorce Law Favored, and Many Important Changes Were Instituted.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)

Chicago, May 29.—The one hundred and twenty-sixth general assembly of the Presbyterian church in the United States was prepared for adjournment here today with a record of work accomplished and important changes instituted without a trace of bitterness in its debate.

Most far reaching of the innovations was the resolution for the reorganization of the home missions board for the purpose of making it more than ever an instrument of social service. The assembly also declared itself in favor of a federal divorce law.

An incident marking the good feeling of the assembly was the burning last night of all papers in a litigation between Rev. Adolph Haberly and Rev. M. D. Shields of the South Oregon Presbytery. While Dr. Shields was a missionary in Siam several years ago, Dr. Haberly brought charges against him which were disproved. Dr. Shields sued Dr. Haberly for slander and later the matter came before the assembly. Before the judiciary committee commenced the case last night all knelt in prayer and when they rose Dr. Haberly and Dr. Shields grasped each other by the hand.

The whole satchel full of papers was then burned.

DR. C. F. LEGGE NOT GUILTY, IS JURY'S VERDICT

After fourteen minutes of deliberation, the jury which heard the evidence in the second trial of Dr. C. F. Legge, returned a verdict of acquittal at 1:34 o'clock Friday afternoon. Dr. Legge was charged with having performed a criminal operation on Helen McAndrews, 16, of Columbus. On the occasion of a former trial the jury disagreed.

Arguments of counsel were made Friday forenoon after testimony had been completed, and at 1 o'clock Judge Fulton charged the jury.

Number Badly Injured and Twenty-Two Died After Being Picked Up—Many of the Survivors Suffer Broken Arms and Legs

ACCIDENT OCCURRED OFF FATHER POINT, QUEBEC

Stricken Vessel Was Bound From Quebec to Liverpool and Catastrophe Happened at 2 O'clock This Morning in St. Lawrence River—Most of the First Class Passengers Perished—120 Salvation Army Members Also Lost; Were on Their Way to Army's International Conference in London.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)

Rimouski, May 29.—Probably more than a thousand lives were lost and surely not less than seven hundred when the great Canadian Pacific liner, Empress of Ireland, sank before dawn today in the St. Lawrence river, ripped open from amidships to stern by the Danish collier Storstad.

This was the estimate made here this afternoon where the hysterical survivors, many of them pitifully maimed and almost naked were being brought here.

It is based on the fact Empress carried 1,437 persons all told, of whom 399 were rescued and landed here by the ships Eureka and Lady Evelyn.

Of those saved, crew members and third class passengers predominated. From partial lists available at 2 o'clock it was evident that but a mere sprinkling of the first cabin passengers were saved.

The stricken vessel sank as if she were lead. Many leaped and were drowned. Others were fortunate to grasp driftwood or were picked up by lifeboats.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)

Rimouski, Que., May 29.—The twin screw Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Ireland carrying 1,437 persons, passengers and crew sank in the darkness before dawn today in the St. Lawrence river near here with a loss of perhaps 1,000 lives. Early estimates of the dead varied from 678 to more than 1,100.

The vessel, bound from Quebec for Liverpool, with 77 first, 206 second and 504 third class passengers, was cut wide open by the collier Storstad, and sank within 20 minutes in nineteen fathoms of water. Of those saved the majority appeared to be members of the crew or from the steerage. Many were badly injured and 22 died after being picked up.

The crash occurred about 2 o'clock this morning off Father Point, Quebec, a village brought into prominence when Dr. Crippen, the London murderer, was caught. The collier bound for Quebec struck the Empress of Ireland on the port side about the middle of the ship. She literally tore her way back almost to the liners screws, leaving a rent through which the water poured in such a deluge that she sank before any of the passengers were aware of what had happened.

Brief wireless calls for help sent out by the Marconi operator were heard by the pilot boat Eureka here, 10 miles from the scene and the Eureka, followed by the

MANY HEEDING THE WARNING OF ADVOCATE

Hundreds of Newark families will undoubtedly heed the warning against typhoid fever issued by Dr. W. H. Knauss, head of the city health department, through the Advocate Thursday, but a number of inquiries received by local physicians indicate that use of the anti-typhoid vaccine advised by Dr. Knauss is not fully understood.

Many have the idea that the serum is applied in a manner similar to that used in smallpox vaccination. Such is not the case. As explained by Dr. Knauss the anti-typhoid vaccine is applied by hypodermic injection, and causes no inconvenience. The boiling of all kinds of drinking water will prove a great preventive, but this does not eliminate the possibility of typhus germs lurking in milk and other food stuffs. It is said that city water is not the only kind of water infected. In many wells and springs the disease germs are breeding, according to analyses made by the state health department.

One of the Sights of Paris.

The Paris department stores are worse jumbles even than the English department stores. When there is a special sale under way the bargain counters are rigged up on the sidewalks. There, in the open air, buyer and seller will chaffer and bicker and wrangle and quarrel and kiss and make up again—for all the world to see. One of the free sights of Paris is a frugal Frenchman with his face extensively haired over pawing like a Skye terrier through a heap of marked down lingerie, picking out things for the female members of his household to wear, now testing some material with his tongue, now holding a personal article up in the sunlight to examine the fabric, while his wife stands humbly, dumbly by, waiting for him to complete his selections.—Irving S. Cobb in Saturday Evening Post.

MOTORCYCLE IN COLLISION WITH BUGGY

Willard Francis, oil distributor at the B. and O. shops, was painfully injured in a motorcycle accident about 10:30 o'clock, Thursday night on the Wilkin Run road near the Tom Edwards farm about two miles northeast of Newark. Francis, on his machine, had climbed a small hill and in going down on the other side, collided with a buggy going in the opposite direction. Francis was thrown heavily and alighted on his head and shoulders, sustaining severe bruises about the head, arms and legs.

SINKING FUND TRUSTEES SAVE CITY'S MONEY

By Taking Over Small Bond Issues At Par and Saving the Interest.

The Board of Sinking Fund trustees on Friday morning, held a short meeting for the purpose of receiving from the city the money due on a maturing bond of $500; and $236 due on coupons.

This board of trustees has been in existence since the adoption of the municipal code, about eight years ago, and its duties while not of a nature to attract publicity, are none the less important to the city. It is the only department of the city government, except the cemetery, that is self sustaining and returns a reasonable profit from its operations.

This board takes care of money, for the payment of the bonded indebtedness of the city and the members serve without a salary consideration, yet give a bond of $10,000 each. The present board consists of William L. Prout, E. M. Baughner, George D. Orr and Harold G. Franklin.

Mr. Prout has served continuously since its appointment and organization, while the others are newer members.

The sinking fund trustees at times take over small bond issues when money is urgently needed, at par value, and save the city the interest and cost of advertising. They now have in the neighborhood of $9000.

Nose Tip Vaccination.

The young Japanese diplomat pointed to his father, the marquis.

"That's father," he said, "the old fellow with the sancer shaped scar on the tip of his nose. All Japs of the older generation have that scar."

"Yes," said the debutante.

"Yes; it's a vaccination mark. In the old days, when compulsory vaccination first began, we Japs vaccinated everybody on the tip of the nose. Why? Well, because it was a good place, where there's no movement to rub off the scab, and also because the vaccination scar on the nose was easily identified by the medical officers of the government. A man didn't have to take off half his clothes in order to prove that he'd been vaccinated."

"Yes; the nose tip vaccination had its good points, but before the modern hankering after beauty it had to go."

—New York Tribune.

Antiquity of Death Masks.

Although there is no mention of death masks in the works of Homer or in any of the later classics, modern explorers have satisfied themselves that in the early burials of all nations it was the custom to cover the heads and bodies of the dead with sheets of gold so pliable that they took the impress of the form, and not infrequently, when in the course of centuries the embalmed flesh had shriveled or fallen away, the gold retained the exact cast of the features. Schliemann found a number of bodies "covered with large masks of gold plate in repousse work," several of which have been reproduced by means of engraving in his "Myceanae," and he asserts that each one of these represents the likeness of the deceased person whose face it covered.

The latter has become an important naval base for the Asiatic fleet.—Philadelphia Press.

First Opera Glasses.

The single opera glass was first used in the time of Louis XIV. It became the rage, and everybody used one. The double opera glass (Jumelle) was invented in 1825, but did not at first find favor with women. A treatise was written in the early part of the nineteenth century on l'art de loger, in which it was shown that a woman with fine hands would hold the glass with both hands, if she were blessed with fine hands she would take off her gloves, if her neck were long she would recline back in her chair, and so on. It was quite a treatise on coquetry.

MARY ANN TOWNSHIP FARMER SURPRISES ADVOCATE FORCE

Jonas McNichols, a farmer living in Mary Ann township, sent to the Advocate office Friday a Clarke's O. N. thread box, neatly and securely done up in brown wrapping paper, addressed to the Advocate Printing Company. The box was opened first in the business office, and was found to be filled with what the manager called "bugs," and it was promptly sent upstairs to the editorial rooms, with no special instructions as to what individual it should be given. The city editor passed it to the railroad editor, then went to the court reporter, then to the sporting editor's desk, from which it was taken to the telegraph editor's table, and at last it was thought to have a final resting place on the society editor's copy hook (she has been almost beside herself with recording happenings and "functions" this week.)

But no light could be shed upon the matter.

As a last resort the editor of the Advocate's extensive and authoritative entomological department, who is nothing if not thoroughly equipped with brilliant learning and inoffensive pedantry.

He looked the contents of the box over, raised his glass over his massive brow and with a look of contemptuous pity, quietly drawled:

"Why, yes. They are very good specimens of the family Acrididae, species Pachytelus Chierascens. The individuals before us are probably Melanoplus spretus, although they are closely allied to the migratorius of Turkestan and have a deep affinity for the Schistocerca peregrina."

Cold water and restoratives were at this point used upon the members of the office force, and the press operator, upon recovering sufficiently, muttered indistinctly "Seventeen-year locusts."

They were.

A woman's farm settlement has been started in the Transvaal, South Africa, to teach women agricultural and household knowledge to better fit them for farm life there.

IF YOU ARE A DRINKING MAN

You had better stop at once or you'll lose your job. Every line of business is closing its doors to "Drinking" men. It may be your turn next. By the aid of ORRINE, thousands of men have been restored to lives of sobriety and industry.

We are so sure that ORRINE will benefit you that we say to you that if after a trial you fail to get any benefit from its use, your money will be refunded.

When you stop "Drinking," think of the money you'll save; besides, sober men are worth more to their employers and get higher wages.

Costs only $1.00 a box. We have an interesting booklet about ORRINE that we are giving away free on request. Call at our store and talk it over.

The Day's True Meaning.

Tomorrow is Memorial Day which is proclaimed a legal holiday in the north in commemoration of those heroes who fell upon the Union side, while fighting for a principle they thought to be right, in the gigantic struggle from 1861 to 1865.

The sentiment expressed on this day is one of patriotism and the dead are remembered with appropriate exercises in the schools, splendid addresses given in which the valor of those men is extolled, and finally flowers are strewn upon the graves of the soldiers dead by their surviving comrades and descendants.

The occasion is also used for a general pilgrimage to our cemeteries by hundreds who bear wreaths to be placed with tender hands and loving hearts upon the mounds that mark the last resting place of departed loved ones.

All this is beautiful. A participation in the exercises of the day has a potent tendency to develop in each breast a tender spirit of human sympathy and a higher ideal of sacrifice for a conception of duty, even to the laying of one's life upon the altar of the country's need, as they felt it.

But there is a deeper significance of which we should be careful not to lose sight. The manifestation of this spirit of homage to those who have answered duty's call, by giving up the "last full measure of devotion" should also be made applicable to those who are still in active life, and with whom we are thrown into daily contact. We should be sure to recognize in those about us, that in the daily routine of affairs, they have duties to perform, temptations to overcome, that calls forth an exercise of courage, fortitude, and resolution that in its essence does not differ from that which carried our nation's soldiers to honored graves.

They need our kindly co-operation and encouragement to progress along the line of right endeavor and we should gladly pay to them the homage due to duty well done.

Let us not lose in a conception of "Decoration Day" the truer and finer meaning of "Memorial Day," and open our hearts to the quickening of those sentiments of reverence, truth, honor, valor and patriotism which will broaden our view of duty to home, family, country—and last but not least—ourselves.

It Isn't True.

"The State Tax Commission has officially announced that each of the state levies will be made the same as last year," is one of the important statements sent out this week from the Republican publicity bureau in Columbus.

It's all very well, only it isn't true. The State Tax Commission has no more to do with making the state levies than the irresponsible author of the above mis-statement. The state levies are made by the legislature and there is no other power that can have any part in fixing them. From reckless and baseless criticism the publicity purveyors have now descended to fabrications.

A man may be enthusiastic for the annexation of everything down to the Panama canal, but that does not prove that he will accede to his wife's request to dig up a yard or two more at the end of the garden.

There might not be any danger to the Queen of Bulgaria in this country on account of the Mexican war, but she would have found the sounds that emanate from the ball grounds very affrighting.

The recent revelations before the Interstate Commerce Commission show what a lot of trouble is caused when railroad stockholders refuse to keep calm and pay assessments.

Not merely are some people willing to admit the authenticity of Col. Roosevelt's river, but they feel he should return and finish exploring it after the congressional elections.

It is claimed by Huerta that the cartoons of his mediators printed by the American newspapers constitute a violation of the armistice.

It has never been explained why a war correspondent goes to Mexico, when he could find a clean bunk and food in any of our jails at home.

It is not expected that many people will take Senator La Follette's 363 page speech away with them as light vacation reading.

There is no evidence that Col. Goethals even put on a starched collar the day of the canal opened.

A tall column of smoke is seen at Niagara Falls emanating from the perfections of the mediators.

The A. B. C. mediation is under way, now let her R. I. P.

No Scandal Yet.

The hurly-burly of embarking the United States troops for Cuba in 1898 is still clearly remembered. The supplies scandals of that period are still odorous. Many people have been expecting similar blots would deface the army record as soon as the troops should be moved outside American soil.

The placing of a sizable army in Mexico is a big proposition. But it is no bigger proposition than the building and operation of our railroads. If army inefficiency should develop later, let the American people clearly understand that these troubles are perfectly needless and remediable. The moment public service work is taken out of politics and put on a business basis, it can be conducted with the minimum of friction that is seen in private enterprises.

It is a source for patriotic congratulation, that the army and navy movements so far undertaken have been handled systematically, and that our forces are comfortably fed and equipped, and the wounded and suffering have been skilfully cared for.

More Good Roads.

There are to be 1000 miles of intercounty and main market roads built in Ohio this summer. Think of what that means to the farmers when the crops are to be hauled to the markets. The benefit cannot be estimated in dollars and cents, it is too great.

Three millions of dollars are to be expended in building these roads in the country. It is an example of constructive work for the rural districts that has never been equalled by a previous state administration.

Although the fishing parties may holler so loud as to scare away the fish, the hilarity suggests that the most important purposes of the expedition have been secured.

The Russian ambassadorship still remains vacant, although 17,643 patriots at the pie counter are heroically willing to risk the danger of Nihilist bombs.

The federal generals are getting so used to being executed by Villa that they rather seem to like it. If you want to be right pronounce it "Ve-ya."

It looks as if the Mexican federal soldiers were getting tired of fighting, when they have to take their pay in cough drops and laundry checks.

The Interstate Commerce Commission is rapidly finding out that railroad directors should look handsome and not ask too many questions.

Although the mediators feel entirely secure on Canadian soil, it would probably be perfectly safe to venture over into our territory after dark.

Father must now begin to save up money for the necessary expenses of Father's day, June 22.

Planting is largely done by machinery now, although it makes it much more efficacious when a farmer breaks his back doing it by hand.

SHOWN UP FOR INEFFICIENCY

By the Way

Our town is an ordinary community and we claim for it no wide-spread or general culture. Those who pronounce it "tango" are greatly in excess of those who refer to it as the "tawngo."

A man may be said to be acquiring familiarity with the requirements of the happy home life as soon as he learns that the "company" towel is sacred.

If no eligible man has applied, it is extremely difficult to convince a woman that marriage will not interfere with her career.

The man who believes the world owes him a living nearly always finds collections slow.

What, by the way, has become of the old-fashioned statesman whose publicity was based on his refusal to wear a "dress suit?"

The fact that women are an impulsive creature accounts for a good many marriages.

The Advocate assumes no responsibility for the opinions expressed in the column headed "Readers' View point." Looks for First Prize. Editor Advocate—I forwarded to you my solutions in the Booklovers' contest Tuesday and today received notice from the postoffice at Newark that 9 cents postage was due. Sent it by return mail as I valued those solutions at $515. Enclosed find remittance for renewal of subscription. Mrs. J. C. T., Columbus, May 28th.

Court of Appeals. Editor Advocate—Kindly print a list of the counties that make up this circuit judicial district and oblige. Reader.

This district is made up of Licking, Stark, Wayne, Ashland, Richland, Morrow, Knox, Holmes, Tuscarawas, Coshocton, Delaware, Muskingum, Morgan, Perry and Fairfield counties. The Licking county Bar Association has endorsed Hon. Edward Kibler for the nomination for judge of the court of appeals.

Corn Growing. Editor Advocate—I have just read your news story and editorial reference to corn growing in Tuesday's Advocate. Glad you are interested in such a good cause and giving it a helping hand. The fact that Ohio is producing less meat, less grain, less fruit than it did 25 years ago with twice the population now than then, a question is presented worthy of attention of the biggest and best men in our country.

Favors Use of Care. Editor Advocate—I want to thank you for printing that article on fast automobile driving yesterday. I drive a machine myself but I certainly favor careful driving not only in the interest of pedestrians but for the safety of the occupants of the car as well. Care will reduce auto accidents to a minimum.

A Question of Brains. At a club frequented by doctors the discussion came up recently whether a person could live without a brain. During the discourse one of the doctors said: "When I was practicing medicine in Indiana a remarkable case came under my supervision. A man while out hunting had leaned upon his shotgun and the weapon had gone off accidentally, making a large wound in his head just above the ear. The brain was laid bare and in bringing the patient to the hospital a handful of the gray matter leaked out. He was trepanned and finally recovered, his mental faculties apparently as good as ever."

"Your story is interesting," interrupted an auditor, "but it sounds to me somewhat inconsistent."

"Why so?" questioned the narrator.

"Because," answered the other doctor, "if he had ever had a handful of brains he wouldn't have leaned on the gun."—National Monthly.

Great Crest of the Sierra. Mount Whitney, the highest peak in the United States, is not an isolated mountain peak, like Mount Shasta or Mount Rainier, but is the loftiest point in the great California crest or enormous saw tooth ridge of the Sierra Nevada, including many eminences almost as high. Mount Whitney is 14,501 feet above sea level. Among those of slightly lesser height are Mount Russell, less than a mile distant, 14,190 feet; Mount Williamson, 14,354 feet; Mount Muir, 14,205 feet; Mount Langley, 14,042 feet; Mount Barnard, 14,003 feet, and Mount Tyndall, 14,025 feet. The most distant of these is less than six miles away.

By a strange freak of nature the lowest point of dry land in the United States is less than eighty miles from the highest. The lowest point is in Death valley and is 276 feet below sea level. It is said that from this point Mount Whitney can be easily seen on a clear day.

An Ignoble Use. Washington Irving in "Crayon Papers" says: "I was once at an evening entertainment given by the Duke of Wellington at Apsley House to William IV. The duke had manifested his admiration of his great adversary, Napoleon, by having portraits of him in different parts of the house. At the bottom of the grand staircase stood the colossal statue of the emperor by Canova. It was of marble in the antique style, with one arm partly extended, holding a figure of Victory. Over this arm the ladies in tripping upstairs to the ball had thrown their shawls. It was a singular office for the statue of Napoleon to perform in the mansion of the Duke of Wellington! Imperial Caesar, dead and turned to clay!

Holland's Magnificent Pavilion
AT THE PANAMA-PACIFIC INTERNATIONAL EXPOSITION

H. S. Crocker Company, official photographers. Copyright, 1914, by Panama-Pacific International Exposition Company. ARCHITECT'S PERSPECTIVE OF NETHERLANDS PAVILION, PANAMA-PACIFIC INTERNATIONAL EXPOSITION (W. KROUMHOUT, ARCHITECT), AND THE HON. H. A. VAN COENEN TORCHIANA, EXPOSITION COMMISSIONER OF THE NETHERLANDS.

THE magnificent pavilion of the Netherlands at the Panama-Pacific International Exposition will be one of the most imposing of the foreign pavilions on the Exposition grounds at San Francisco. It is expected by Hon. H. A. Van Coenen Torchiana, resident commissioner of the Netherlands, that the building, to cost $125,000, will be completed in October. The pavilion will have a frontage of 175 feet, with a depth of 190 feet. The feature of the interior will be the main entrance hall, which will be surrounded by a dome, to be decorated by noted Dutch mural artists.

Opening upon the sides of the main entrance hall will be the private reception rooms of the commissioner, the business offices and public reception rooms, while in the rear will be an immense lecture hall. The Netherlands Pavilion will not be a copy of any of the famous old Dutch buildings, but the architect, W. Kroumhout of Holland, has combined the best features of a number of the famous buildings of the Netherlands. The roof will be constructed of the old Dutch tile, and the pavilion will be surrounded by a typical Dutch garden.

UNUSUAL ACTIVITY
AT THE MEXICAN CAPITAL TODAY

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM) Mexico City, May 29.—Unusual activity was displayed in official circles in the federal capital this morning. The ministers of war, public instruction and finance, the acting minister of foreign affairs and the general treasurer of the republic conferred with Provisional Minister at 6 o'clock. The German minister, Admiral von Hintze, also called later at the national palace.

It is believed the international situation was discussed at these conferences. The inhabitants of the capital were jubilant on learning of reports about an early settlement between Mexico and the United States and that the American troops would soon evacuate Vera Cruz.

SENIOR ABOUT TO RECEIVE DIPLOMA
RUSHED TO JAIL

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM) Ada, O., May 29.—Joseph Base, of Hamilton, Ind., a senior of Ohio Northern College of engineering was arrested and taken to jail this morning just as the solemn black gown procession was lined up to receive their diplomas. The deputy refused to wait for the ceremony and rushed Base to the county jail in the sheriff's automobile. When Thomas Spull, college dean, heard the news he hurried to the youth's aid in an automobile. The charge against Base is alleged to be carrying a revolver, which results from his figuring in an affair when the police here raided a house adjoining his lodgings. His case comes up Monday.

THERMOMETER
IS HOVERING
AROUND 96

Thermometers in the city failed to agree as to how hot it was on Friday, but the general public seemed to have no trouble in getting together on that subject.

At some places in the shade it registered as low as 91, and again it would jump to 95. So if you wish to feel cool, pick out the conservative thermometer. As a hope for the future the weather man continues to predict thunder storms and showers.

Y. W. C. A. NOTES

Although the weather was extremely warm, about one hundred enjoyed the party given by the Membership committee on Tuesday evening. After several contests which were entered into enthusiastically by all, Miss Crosby gave a short talk on the "Spirit of Membership." It is sincerely hoped that every one who has not renewed her membership this year will do so now. Try to realize that you are helping others, even if you yourself do not receive direct benefit. Service should be the spirit of every association member. Try it.

The last meeting of the Bible class was held on Monday night. A social time was enjoyed at the close of the lesson hour. This has been a very successful course of lessons and greatly enjoyed by all who have taken advantage of them. Great credit is due Rev. Mr. Holloway, who has had the course in charge.

Both the sewing and millinery classes will close for the summer months. In the fall, it is hoped that all classes will be started again with renewed enthusiasm.

The Campfire Girls will go on a hike tomorrow, leaving the building at 10 a. m. Each girl is to bring her own lunch and a potato and piece of bacon. Those having campfire dresses may take them along, if they wish to.

The Cateria will be open both at noon and at night on Decoration Day.

Miss Mae Lamp is now a member of the Y. W. family.

JUDGE GRAY RESIGNS. (ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM) Wilmington, Del., May 29.—Judge George Gray, of the United States court of the third judicial circuit, announced today that he had forwarded his resignation to Washington last night.

A Curious Story. The queen of Hanover, wife of King Ernest Augustus of Hanover (better known as the Duke of Cumberland, son of George III.), died at Hanover about 1842 of an illness which baffled the skill of her doctors as to its real cause. During her illness a clairvoyant was consulted, who wrote certain curious signs and words on the door of her bedroom; but, although these mystic words were repeated over and over again, the queen died. The king of Hanover after his wife's death gave orders that her bedroom should always be kept as though the queen would sleep there at night. The bed was turned down, the pillows reshaken, hot water brought and the daintiest slippers laid in readiness for her.—London Tatler.

LITTLE DISCUSSIONS OF LOVE AND MARRIAGE

BY BARBARA BOYD

The Value of Separations.

The New Bride was looking a trifle doleful. The New Bridegroom was also looking a trifle glum.

"You don't seem very glad to be home again," said the New Bridegroom.

"And you don't seem awfully glad to have methome," responded the New Bride.

"Of course I am. What an idea!" replied the New Bridegroom, briskly. The enthusiasm of his tone was somewhat forced. The New Bride felt it.

"What is it, dear?" she asked, snuggling up to him.

"Let's have it out." "Nothing really," he replied a bit shamefacedly. "Only it does seem as if you were fussier than ever about putting everything away where a fellow can't find it."

"And it seems to me," said the New Bride, "as if you are worse than ever about leaving things around."

They both laughed. "I guess we'll have to reform all over again on those points, won't we," admitted the New Bridegroom.

"Anyway, it won't be as hard as when we were first married," agreed the New Bride. "It'll be a sort of second nature now. Do you remember how it irritated me, at first, to have you throw all your things about so, and how it irritated you to have me put them away?"

They both were silent a moment, reminiscent.

"I wonder, did we really mend our ways, or did we just get used to each other," mused the New Bride.

"I guess a little of both," responded the New Bridegroom. "I know I am untidy and that the home does look better with everything neat and orderly. And I did get so that I put my things away—some, now didn't I?"

"Indeed you did. You became so neat, I really grew alarmed. But on the other hand, didn't I get tolerant of newspapers on the floor and cigar ashes everywhere?"

"You grew positively angelic about it. But now that we have been away from each other awhile, we have dropped back into old habits, or else we have become less tolerant again."

"I hope that doesn't mean we are less loving," said the New Bride, alarmed.

"Hardly that. I think it means that having no one to consider but ourselves, old habits reasserted themselves unchecked. It is a good thing you didn't stay away longer. I would have become an untidy animal, and you a fussy old maid. You see, married life restrains us from developing untidily in unpleasant directions."

"When I first came back," admitted the New Bride, "I thought you had changed dreadfully. Seemed to me you were crankier than ever about what you ate and your temper was worse. I was quite broken-hearted."

"And I thought you had grown worse about never being on time,—do you remember how late you were that first day you were to meet me at luncheon,—and it seemed as if you were more determined than ever to have your own way about everything."

"I guess we'll have to take up a task of reforming each other once more," laughed the New Bride. "But I don't mind the way we do it, because we don't nag or quarrel. But I wonder if it's a good thing or not, for us to be separated once in a while."

"It's not a very happy thing," replied the New Bridegroom, ruefully. "I was awfully lonesome. And if all our bad habits have trooped back, I don't see that that is a gain."

"Maybe we had grown so used to them we didn't see them or were indifferent to them. And if that is the case, it is a good thing, we should see ourselves once more as we really are."

"If you promise to pay no more visits, I'll pick all these newspapers up off the floor," said the New Bridegroom, gathering up the sheets of evening newspapers scattered about.

"And whether I go or not, I'll promise to be punctual next time I have a date with you—if I can."

SOMERSET PEOPLE ARE NOT SATISFIED WITH THE SCHEDULE

It appears that Somerset business men who two months ago petitioned B. and O. officials here for a change in train schedules on the Shawnee division, have changed their minds, according to protests which have been registered in the division offices here by means of a number of personal letters.

J. J. Daly chief clerk to Superintendent Jackson, said Thursday, as yet no change in the schedule has been contemplated by the company officials. The original petition asked for a train coming north to Newark in the morning and leaving here for the south about 4 p. m., which would be just the reverse of the present schedule. It was contended that this arrangement would give people on the Shawnee division a chance to get to Newark, Columbus and Zanesville in the forenoon and back in the evening. Those who have protested against the change assert it is their belief that such a plan would encourage their citizens to trade away from home. Some of the protests are said to hint at bad faith on the part of Newark merchants, who appeared with Somerset people some time ago when the matter was presented to railroad officials.

Automobiles of all styles and kinds passed through the city yesterday and today enroute to Indianapolis to attend the motor races on Saturday. Many are leaving early to attend the motorcycle races which will be held this afternoon. The following party went from Newark yesterday: Myron Rodgers, Elmer Hawkins on motorcycles, Edgar Jones, Elmer Leedy, Robert McClure, Guy Queen, Eric Swartz, and Elmer Howard. Mr. Rodgers has secured a two weeks' vacation and from Indianapolis will go on to his home on Madison, Wis. All left on motorcycles.

FAMOUS DANCER GIVES COMPLEXION SECRETS

"I've learned the secret of Dolores' entrancing beauty—the odorous charm that has dazzled the courts of Europe and captivated vast audiences everywhere. The famous dancer abhors rouges and cosmetics. Yet, despite the strenuousness of her life, she retains the incomparable complexion best described as 'indescribable.' An intimate friend tells me that the secret regularly uses on her face what druggists know as mercurized wax. This is applied at night in the manner cold cream is used and washed off in the morning. It absorbs the dead particles of skin which daily appear, and a fair, soft, fresh, girlish complexion is always in evidence. Dolores' skin is not marred by a single wrinkle, not the least line. She wards these off by daily bathing the face in a solution made by dissolving an ounce of powdered salicylic acid in a half pint of warm water. Your drug stores keep these ingredients, as well as mercurized wax (one ounce of the wax is sufficient), no matter how small your store. Write to me for the full information. —Allen Moore in Beauty's Mirror. Advertisement."

HERE IS "HOP" MAN WHO MAKES "SCOOP" FAMOUS

Here is "Hop" the man who draws "Scoop" cartoons that are appearing in the Advocate. The reader will note that Mr. Hopkins' sketch was made by "Scoop" himself.

"Scoop" is a child of my fancy, and I made him up without going to any type of youngster who worked on a paper, though there have been many that were worth using," he said in answer to an inquiry as to where he got the idea. "But the 'Boss' is different. He is from real life, though he was not a boss, but a 'head' settled on a Denver paper where I started the series, going on three years ago. He has the ingrowing face, and the peculiar physique which is part of the boss."

In the last ten years, Hopkins has worked as a cartoonist on big papers in Chicago, St. Louis and Denver. He cartooned in the latter place for five years.

THAT TIRED FEELING

Suggests Grandmother's Remedy.

It's true, the season is here with its sudden changes, and the old idea that we need a blood medicine is not without reason. Too much heavy food has caused torpid liver, sluggish blood, and a weak, tired out feeling.

Sulphur, cream of tartar and molasses was grandmother's remedy but that has long ago been displaced by Vinol, a combination of the two most famous tonics, namely, the medicinal curative elements of the cod's liver, without oil, and iron for the blood.

Vinol builds you up, makes you eat more and digest better, makes your blood rich and pure—puts healthy color in your cheeks.

N. G. Clift of Opelika, Ala., says: "Last spring I was all run-down, no strength, no appetite. I took Vinol and was greatly benefited by its use, as I soon felt strong and well as ever."

We guarantee Vinol to satisfy you and refund your money if it does not. Frank D. Hall, Druggist, Newark, O.

PRODUCING A THRILLER FOR THE "MOVIES"

Within the next week the Western Belair Company, at their spacious new studio will start work on a three reel production entitled "The Strike at Coalville" and this will be somewhat of a novelty for the reason that it is not a western picture in any sense of the word. "The Strike at Coalville" embraces many sensational and thrilling situations, one of which is a race between a train of cars and a speeding motorcycle, and in order to insure the real thing the company director has made arrangements with the El Paso and South Western Ry. for a special train which will be at his disposal in the producing of this scene. Three hundred extra people are necessary to form a mob which greets the train and the motorcycle at the end of their exciting race, and the town of Tucson has declared a half holiday to witness the taking of this particular scene, as it will number among the actors many of the local business people who have evinced an earnest desire to appear before the camera.

SULPHUR IS THE ONLY THING FOR ITCHING ECZEMA

Use like cold cream to subdue irritation and clear the skin.

In the treatment of the various forms of disfiguring, itching and burning Eczema, such as Acne, Ringworm, Salt Rheum, there is nothing known that can take the place of bold-sulphur cream.

It effects such prompt relief, even in the aggravated Eczema, that it is a never-ending source of amazement to physicians.

For years bold-sulphur has occupied a secure position in the treatment of cutaneous eruptions by reason of its cooling, parasite-destruoying properties. Bold-sulphur is not only parasiticide, but antipruritic and antiseptic, therefore invaluable in overcoming irritable and inflammatory affections of the skin. While not always establishing a permanent cure, yet in every instance it instantly stops the agonizing itching; subdues the irritation and heals the inflamed, raw skin right up and it is often years later before any Eczema eruption again appears.

Those troubled should obtain from any good pharmacist an ounce of bold-sulphur cream and apply it directly upon the abrasion like an ordinary cold cream. It isn't unpleasant and the prompt relief afforded is very welcome.

MEMORIAL DAY.

As the colors are carried around the public square in the Morning Parade on Saturday recall these lines from, "The Flag Is Passing By."

Hats off!
The flag is passing by!
Blue and crimson and white it shines,
Over the steel-tipped, ordered lines.
Hats off!

The colors before us fly:
But more than the flag is passing by.
Sea-fights and land-fights, grim and great,
Fought to make and save the state;

Weary marches and sinking ships;
Cheers of victory on dying lips;
Equal justice, right and law,
Stately honor and reverent awe,
Sign of a nation great and strong
To ward her people from foreign wrong.

Pride and glory and honor, all
Live in the colors to stand or fall.
The flag is passing by!
Hats off!

Let every business house, civic building and home display the National Color all day on Saturday.

The National Commander of the Grand Army requests that all bells toll at 12 m for five minutes on Memorial Day, and that all ex-soldiers stand with hats off, at salute during that period. It would be a pleasing thing if all citizens would join in this silent tribute to the nation's dead.

Flags attached to staffs by movable cords should be at half mast until noon or until after the tolling.

Memorial day is yearly growing in favor with our people. It is the most sacred day of the year and should be properly observed.

It is a shame that so many Americans insist on making the day a day of sport; and doubly a shame that so many colleges and public schools so desecrate the day—even church colleges do so.

And yet it is gratifying to note that more young men than heretofore are helping to observe the day.

An interesting feature of Saturday's parade will be a company of Newark school boys representing the ages at which half the soldiers of the Civil War enlisted. Just to think that the rosters at the War Office show that 1,151,438 enlistments were made by boys of 18 years and younger—225 of these were of 12 years and under. F. G. Steele, Patriotic Instructor Lemert Post.

CONNECTION IS MADE WITH NEW EXCHANGE

Automatic Numbers 1161 or 1162 Will Get St. Louisville—Complete New System.

The Newark Telephone Company has for the last two months been busily engaged with a large force of men, constructing its new plant at St. Louisville. Although, this plant is not officially opened as yet, new subscribers are being installed daily, and operators have been engaged and are now furnishing services over the new switchboard, which was installed about two weeks ago and is now about completed.

Over one hundred contracts have already been secured and these telephones will all be installed and working within the next sixty days.

Automatic numbers are being furnished to subscribers in the village while both town and rural subscribers will be furnished with Harmonizing telephones. This is the most complete and up to date system that money can buy, and makes it possible on rural lines for each subscriber to be rung individually, without any other telephone bells responding on the line except the party called for. The village of St. Louisville has been built as an all cable plant, and there will be no open wire used whatever. Even the service drops connecting the cable to subscribers premises will be insulated duplex wire.

Quarters have been secured under a long time lease, in what was formerly the I. O. O. F. hall, over the A. L. Slater, Grocery Company. Visitors are welcome at the plant and will be given courteous treatment by the Company's agents.

The St. Louisville exchange is already connected with two automatic trunks with the Newark Automatic system, the numbers of which are 1161 and 1162. Free service will be rendered from and to St. Louisville with the Newark, Granville and Hanover exchanges of The Telephone Company's system, by simply calling one of these two numbers on the dial, and the subscriber to the automatic plant in Newark will be able to connect directly with the St. Louisville operator, thus instantaneous services may be had with any subscriber on these exchanges.

JURY OF PHYSICIANS BRIGHT'S DISEASE

"They were not genuine cases of Bright's Disease." Then how about cases like this?—

R. C. Pell, cor. Broadway and Battery Sts., is the manager of one of San Francisco's big corporations. His son had Bright's Disease. He called two physicians, one of them an Army surgeon. Usual albumen and patient swollen with dropsy. The doctors declared the case incurable. The father thereupon ordered Fulton's Renal Compound administered. Patient began to mend and in six months was so well his father could hardly credit it and had two other physicians examine the patient and analyze samples. Both reported normal.

FOREIGNERS IN MEXICO TO BE TREATED FAIRLY

Washington, May 29.—General Carranza today assured the British ambassador here that foreigners in Mexico will be subjected to no "unjust or inequitable burdens." This was occasioned by inquiries particularly as to the Tampico oil fields and was regarded generally as "very satisfactory."

Madame Ise's bell Says Premature Grayness Often Comes From a Dry Scalp

THE HAIR AND SCALP—PART III.

The normal, healthy scalp is fat, rather than thin, is well nourished by blood vessels and moves loosely over the scalp. In color it is faintly pink, or becomes so at a touch, and is moist. A tight, dry, white scalp is deficient in both blood and oil, a condition that is apt to lead to premature grayness as well as to falling hair. Such a scalp needs stimulating by means of massage at least five minutes daily and a thorough shampoo not less than twice a month.

Look to the General Health.

Anemic and nervous people often have a dry, lifeless scalp. In the case of an animal we know how quickly the general health is reflected in the coat, and it is equally true of people that poor health means dull, lusterless hair. Improve the health so we may get better blood with which to nourish the hair roots is the first step. The massage movements which I shall give later will increase the activity of the fine capillaries and bring a better blood supply; they will also make the oil glands active so we can count on a normal amount of lubrication, and regular brushing will distribute this throughout the hair length. Until we get the oil glands to acting regularly we can feed the scalp by gently rubbing in a little castor oil or vasoline. This should be put on the scalp, not on the hair.

If the hair is dry and lifeless, its appearance will be improved by using a little good brillianine. Put a few drops on the palm of the hand, rub the two palms together and then pass them over the hair. If the hair is very dry do this after a shampoo while the hair is hanging, treating each lock separately. If the condition is less serious, but hair prone to become ungly and disordered on account of being too dry, moisten the palms of the hands with brillianine and touch them lightly to the hair. Do not abuse brillianine; a drop of it properly applied will give natural gloss to the hair, but too much of it will make the hair sticky and disagreeable.

At her home the girl found sorrow at the door. Her father had died before she reached him. Besides her grief for his loss she was burdened with financial difficulties, for she discovered her father's affairs were in a bad way, leaving her practically penniless. However, she was not helpless, for, having served years as her father's secretary, she was fitted to support herself, and her attorney secured for her position as secretary to John Weaver, the new mayor.

For a year things moved smoothly in the mayor's office until the question of the passing of a certain gas franchise, projected by Tom Regan, ward boss and plum gathering politician, came up. Quite sure of his cooperation in the matter, Regan sent a message to the mayor by one of his aides, suggesting to him the advisability of sanctioning the bill, with the unqualified conclusion, "Then well shake the plum tree."

Marion, bringing some letters to Weaver's desk, observed the messenger, whose face possessed a hauntingly elusive familiarity. For some time she pondered over this when, like a flash, came the memory of the man who had so skillfully opened the tool box lock more than a year ago.

The mayor put the letter away in his desk, but he had no intention of following its recommendations. When his stand became public Regan tried the exercise of all the pressure at his command, principally political threats, which did not stir the mayor in the least.

On the day before action on the franchise, was slated, Regan appeared at the office for a last hot interview, which Weaver arranged for him, but it was over by a clever manipulation of the telephone receiver, so that while looking perfectly innocent, it allowed sound to carry into the inner room where his secretary not only listened to the conversation but took it all down.

After Regan's departure, before Marion's eyes, the mayor took the much disputed franchise and wrote his veto boldly across the bottom, then put it away in the safe. Marion applauded him for this stand and he left the office for the day.

But the opposition was not through with its franchise fight. There was still one more card to play: that of time, for unless the veto was presented by noon the next day the franchise would go through by default. Miss Adele Lane, in private life Mrs. Burton King, was born in New York City. At the age of 6 she made her stage debut in that favorite of childhood, "Edith's Burglar." After that she played "Little Lord Fauntleroy" and "Little Eva," and a host of other child parts, until at 15 she was made leading woman in repertoire companies, doing much hard work and receiving available training. From this work she stepped into seasons with "Sky Farm," "Ben Hur," "Granville," and "Cohen's Lock," interspersed with brief vaudeville experience. Through the Solar company she entered motion picture work, then went to the Latin people for a year and a half, being sent by them through the western states. Stopping in California for a rest, she became interested in the Selig company, and was started in by the company with ingenuous parts, but speedily put herself into the class of leading women, whose she gives charming interpretations of heroines of forceful drama, of light comedy. She makes her home in Los Angeles.

Back in the mayor's office that morning

Marion waited for his coming. She looked over the papers straightened up small matters, opened the great safe door, and still waited, becoming alarmed at his delay as she thought of the franchise. She knew where it was in the safe, but its small compartment was locked and she had no key to it.

In the meantime Regan, though sure of his franchise proposition, remembered the incriminating letter he had once sent the mayor, and expecting him to be in rather a nasty mood after this experience, concluded that letter would be much safer in the writer's possession. So he sent his aid, Nolan, to the mayor's office to find the letter, if possible.

Nolan got in, but but while he was searching through the desk Marion heard him, came into the room, recognized him, and in a flash had him covered with a businesslike pistol. There was nothing for Nolan to do but to rise to the occasion and obey her. When she ordered him into the big safe and instructed him to open a small compartment. He, too, recalled the incident of the tool box and remembered the young woman, so he opened the lock for her. Then she summoned the clerk in the outer office, turned her prisoner over to him, snatched the franchise and dashed for the city hall.

Just when the clock hand was at the mark of 12, before its great voice boomed out proclaiming the hour, just when Tom Regan was rubbing his hands with anticipation of the feeling of plums, just when Mayor Weaver and his chauffeur were making all the speed records in the country, trying to reach the city hall, into the solemn peace of the audience chamber rushed a flushed, breathless girl, flourishing a paper—the mayor's veto on the gas franchise.

There were squalls to this situation saving, but they are concerned almost entirely with Marion and the mayor.

BOATS IN COLLISION

Lady Evelyn, a mail tender, put on forced steam and made all speed for the spot.

It was these two boats that found afloat the few lifeboats that were launched from the stricken ship and picked up the survivors they contained.

Three hundred and thirty-nine were saved by the Lady Evelyn and sixty by the Eureka. Among those saved was Captain H. G. Kendall of the Empress.

Most of the first class passengers apparently perished. Among those in the first cabin were Sir Henry Seton Karr, a noted English lawyer and big game hunter, and Laurence Irving, son of the late Sir Henry Irving and his wife, Mabel Hackney. Of a party of 140 salvation army members on board, only 20 were rescued. They had left Quebec yesterday, bound for the army's international conference in London. So quickly did the express sink that those passengers fortunate enough to get into the lifeboats found themselves garbed only in their night clothes. No baggage was saved. The condition of the survivors was pitiable. Some had broken arms and legs, and all had suffered terribly.

E. Gosselin, a prominent lawyer from Montreal, saved himself by clinging to a raft. When the rescue ships docked here, the station platform was converted into a hospital and the townspeople, bringing food and clothing, united in a common effort to aid the sufferers. Twelve bodies with faces covered lay side by side on the raft. They were passengers who had made the lifeboats but who were fearfully hurt. Wreckage strewn the St. Lawrence for a long distance near the spot where the Empress sank. The sun shone brightly during the forenoon. Though the water is still icy, the temperature today was not low enough to increase the suffering.

The vast majority of the saved were members of the ship's crew. Early estimates here indicated that not more than sixty passengers were saved. Besides Captain Kendall, the first and second engineers and the ship's surgeon were rescued. The captain was too overcome to give at first any extended account of the disaster. He had sent a wireless to his line after the vessel was struck saying: "Ship gone."

The residents of Rimouski, numbering three thousand came silently to the dock where the dead and exhausted living were being landed, and under the direction of the mayor, H. R. Fiset, gave aid wherever possible. Every doctor in the town was on the scene, and many of the injured were taken to private homes. From cedar chests and closets, the townsfolk brought garments of all descriptions for those who had lost their belongings.

Two headquarters were established at the wharf and at the station of the Intercolonial Railroad. At the station those injured and not removed to homes were cared for. The rescue boats, Eureka and Lady Evelyn, found on reaching the point where the Empress sank, a Quebec, May 29.—The Canadian Pacific Railway Steamer Empress of Ireland, with more than 1200 persons aboard sank in the Gulf of St. Lawrence early today soon after a collision, 30 miles off Fatherland, with the collier Storstad. Three hundred and fifty survivors from the lost steamer were landed several hours later at Rimouski by rescue steamers, leaving more than 800 persons unaccounted for and probably lost.

The collision occurred at 2:30 in the morning during a dense fog. The Empress of Ireland, wireless sent out a few "S. O. S." signals, enough to send the Canadian government steamer Eureka and the mail steamer Lady Evelyn to the rescue, and then her messages ceased. It was afterwards learned that the passenger steamer sank 10 minutes after the collision. The collier Storstad, early reports said, also sank soon after the accident. She was a steamer of 5581 tons, commanded by Captain Anderson and plied between Sydney, Quebec and Montreal. Her crew numbered about 50 men.

There were 77 firsts, 206 seconds and 504 third class passengers, which with the crew, made over 1,200 souls on board. Among the names on her passenger list is Sir Henry Seton-Kerr, a barrister whose travels and game shooting have taken him into many corners of the world. Other passengers who left Montreal yesterday to join the Empress of Ireland at Quebec were Laurence Irving, the actor, son of the late Sir Henry Irving, his wife, Miss Mabel Hackney, and two other members of Mr. Irving's company, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Neville, Mrs. Irving's maid, Hilda Haggston, was also in the party. A large number of members of the Salvation army, bound for their international conference in London, were also aboard.

First news of the disaster reached Quebec shortly after three o'clock this morning. It came from the Marconi station at Father Point to the marine department agent here and announced that the Empress of Ireland had collided with an unknown ship thirty miles east of Father Point and was sinking. The Marconi station had heard the "S. O. S." signals of distress and reported that the Canadian government steamer Eureka and the mail tender Evelyn, which were at Father Point, had been rushed to the rescue. The wireless people reported they had been in communication with the Empress of Ireland, but a short time when the messages suddenly ceased. This led to fears that the steamer had sunk and this afterward proved true.

Nearly an hour after the first message was received, Father Point reported that it was the Hanover, of the North German Lloyd Line, which had been in collision with the Empress of Ireland and that probably both steamers had been lost. This added gravely to the disaster as the Hanover was known to have over 1,300 immigrants aboard bound from Rotterdam for this port.

The report about the Hanover, however, fortunately proved to be an error and Father Point announced that they had learned that it was the collier Storstad that collided with the Empress of Ireland and that both vessels had gone down soon after the collision.

At six o'clock this morning reports that survivors were being landed at Rimouski were received here. It was stated that the Eureka and the Lady Evelyn had landed 350 passengers, but that more than 800 were still missing and were probably drowned.

New Albanian King, Whose Throne Totters.

King William of Albania, who was the Prince of Weid, in Germany, is having a fight for his throne, which he has occupied for less than a year. Rebels frightened him and Queen Sophie so badly the other day that they had to take refuge on an Italian man-of-war. They later returned to their capital, but their soldiers did not seem able to cope with the mob, which demanded their withdrawal. The prince was set up as king of Albania, after Austria, following the late wars in the southeastern part of Europe, suggested the formation of an independent kingdom. He was also named by Austria as the first monarch. The Arabians had for years been practically under the control of petty chiefs, who exercised power in as much territory as they could hold and paid little attention to the authority of the Turkish government. Their chiefs have stirred up opposition to the new king because they don't want to lose their power.

SOME KNOWN FACTS ABOUT RHEUMATISM

There are many things that are still unknown about rheumatism. The treatment of it is still far from satisfactory. Doctors realize this but nobody is more fully aware of it than the sufferers themselves.

A tendency to rheumatism once established, the pain often returns with every change of weather, showing that the poison is still in the blood, waiting for a favorable condition to become active and cause trouble.

One fact is known and acknowledged by all medical writers and that is the rapid thinning of the blood when the rheumatic poison invades it. Building up the blood is the best remedy for rheumatism as the enriched blood is able to overcome or throw off the poisons of the disease. For this reason rheumatic sufferers should be interested in the success which Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have had in the treatment of this painful disease. A book, "Building Up the Blood," will be sent free on request by The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y. It contains directions regarding diet, baths and hygiene for rheumatic patients.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists everywhere.

She is a single screw vessel and is loaded with coal. She carries a crew of fifty men. The disaster recalls the accident to the sister ship of the ill-fated vessel, the Empress of Britain, which two years ago rammed and sank the collier Hervella in almost the same spot that the collision took place this morning.
